The ARIES Team is honored for increasing research productivity by designing an interactive web-based system for managing the use of animals in research. The new system replaced a time-absorbing, complex and paper-intensive process, and freed up valuable research and administration time.

MODELS OF EXCELLENCE

Eric Baratta
School of Arts and Sciences

Eric Baratta is honored for supporting faculty and students in all aspects of Theater Arts' academic activities, including event management, technical direction, development of promotional materials, cost management, and oversight of all productions.

MODELS OF EXCELLENCE

Antonio "Tony" Cosby
Business Services

Antonio "Tony" Cosby is honored for being a leading role model and mentor for the "Start on Success" training program for disadvantaged youth, run by the Netter Center for Community Partnerships. Tony coached over 25 students to successful adulthood—a task that would have been beyond their reach and imagination without his close and long-term support and involvement in their lives.

MODELS OF EXCELLENCE

Ty A. Furman, Ed.D.
University Life

Ty A. Furman, Ed.D. is honored for significantly enriching the arts at Penn and in Philadelphia. He expanded artistic opportunities for our students and strengthened the arts community in and outside the University by fostering positive relationships and alliances with art communities throughout Philadelphia.

The Vets Summer Program Team

Left to Right

Rob DiMeo, School of Veterinary Medicine

Rosanne Herpen, School of Veterinary Medicine

The Vets Summer Program Team is accorded honorable mention for pioneering an exciting summer program for future veterinary students in the face of severe budget cuts. They developed a self-funded program of lectures, labs, panel presentations, and rotations in the Ryan Veterinary Hospital that ultimately enhanced the pool of future students at the School of Veterinary Medicine.
